

MK50 Birthday Weekend

A programme of events celebrating
Milton Keynes' 50th Birthday

20 – 23 January 2017

Introduction

On 23rd January 2017, Milton Keynes will celebrate its 50th anniversary marking the date of the Designation of the New Town. Organisations, groups and businesses across the city have pulled together to create a programme of celebratory events for 2017 that are inspired by the past, present and future of Milton Keynes. The aim for the programme is to show off how great our city is, to take pride in our achievements and to celebrate our diversity.

The Birthday Weekend has been created to mark the actual birthday of Milton Keynes. Over a long weekend – 20th-23rd January 2017 – venues and organisations have signed up to offer free entry or special offers, walks, talks, activities, exhibitions and film screenings for citizens to enjoy.

Although it may be a little chilly outside, we hope that everyone will be inspired to do something fun over this weekend that makes them think about the story of Milton Keynes, how it got to be here and what its future might look like.

The full list of events for the Birthday Weekend can be found here:
